Registry of Deeds Tour

The Hillsborough County Tax Collectors gathered for an informal tour of the Hillsborough County Registry of Deeds in Nashua. The visit was hosted by County Coordinators Brenda DuLong and Amanda Mulrooney.

The tour was given by Dennis C. Hogan, Register of Deeds, who welcomed the group and provided an overview of the Registry and its operations.

Participants had the opportunity to meet employees of the Registrar's Office and learn more about their roles and responsibilities. The group toured the facility, viewed the Registry's record books, and learned more about the history and process of maintaining land records.

The group also discussed the Registry's processes and the connection between the Registry of Deeds and municipal Tax Collectors' Offices. The tour provided an opportunity to ask questions, exchange information, and gain a better understanding of the services and records maintained by the Registry.

Round Table Discussion

The tour concluded with a round table discussion among the Tax Collectors in attendance. Participants shared questions, experiences, and information regarding municipal tax collection practices and current issues affecting their offices. The discussion provided an opportunity for attendees to learn from one another, share ideas, and discuss topics of common interest.

Networking and Professional Development

The visit provided a valuable opportunity for Hillsborough County Tax Collectors to strengthen working relationships with the Registry of Deeds staff and with fellow municipal Tax Collectors.

Adjournment

The tour and round table discussion concluded following the completion of the day's activities.
